BORING BUSINESSES

12 ordinary jobs you can turn into a clear offer

☐ Pet waste removal

A regular route, one backyard at a time
First offer: weekly cleanup for a two-dog yard

☐ Trash-bin valet

For people who miss bin day or need a hand
First offer: curb-and-return service every week

☐ Home cleaning

Start with a defined job, not the whole house
First offer: one kitchen and two bathrooms

☐ Laundry folding

The clean pile has become furniture
First offer: two hours folding at their home

☐ Garage organizing

Make room for the car they actually own
First offer: clear and organize one garage wall

☐ Packing and unpacking

Help with the part of moving they dread
First offer: unpack and organize one kitchen

☐ Furniture assembly

Somebody bought a desk with 93 pieces
First offer: assemble one freestanding desk

☐ Patio furniture cleaning

Clean a set without tackling the whole patio
First offer: wash one table and six chairs

☐ Small-office admin

Turn unanswered inquiries into a clear list
First offer: sort 50 inquiries into a tracking sheet

☐ Document formatting

Make the proposal look ready to send
First offer: format a proposal up to 10 pages

☐ Listing cleanup

Fix the details that make a shop look sloppy
First offer: correct five product listings

☐ Video caption cleanup

Catch the words auto-captions got wrong
First offer: fix three clips up to 60 seconds each

Before you buy equipment, ask a real person if they want the service

Check local rules, insurance, access and safety before accepting work
These are ideas to test; demand, startup costs and earnings vary